METAL WINDING

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

ASTOR LENOX TILDEN FOUNDATION

THE extensive use of Crittall Metal Windows in the Building Industry as a whole has during the last few years been considerably increased by their more general adoption in the better class of private domestic work.

This is the aspect of building in which the general public is most interested; and the potential house-purchaser of to-day has learnt from observation that modern standards of appearance and comfort cannot be maintained in a house which is not supplied with Crittall Metal Windows.

In these pages therefore we give some examples of houses sold after erection at prices varying from £650 to over £1,450, in the designing and selling of which Crittall Metal Windows have proved, both to builder and buyer, a great advantage.

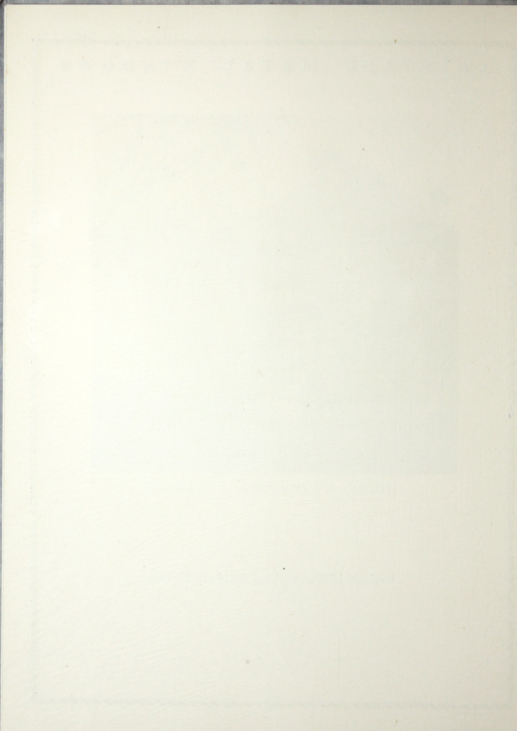

Oriels formed with Standard
Metal Windows and Tubular
Mullions.
